

ALPINE PACK: GREGORY ALPINISTO LT

LESS IS MORE

Alpinists are individualists - and with alpine backpacks every athlete has his or her own "dream configuration", depending on the planned tour and route. The new Alpinisto LT 28 and LT 38 from Gregory, thanks to their clever equipment, can do everything on the agenda: from material-intensive ascents to fast summits with minimal equipment.

Being part of the Gregory Alpine and Ski series the Alpinisto LT represents a puristic and much lighter new version of the Alpinisto. The new Alpinisto LT is available in two different sizes (28 and 38l) and built to adjust to any kind of alpine activity. Lightweight, durable materials and integrated gear carry are the heart of this pack that can transform from minimalist approach pack to a peak-begging, vertical-climbing beast. The hipbelt pads can be fixed to the pack for more stable load carry, or can be slid along the hipbelt webbing to accommodate a harness and gear. Anchored: the load is close to the Body core. Variable: the hip belt pads can be pushed towards the front so they don't interfere with the climbing harness. Each pad is equipped with one gear loop. For minimalists, the hip belt is completely removable.

The thermoformed back panel is snow and water resistant. The Fusion Lite suspension comes with a removable HPDE frame sheet, making the Alpinisto LT the perfect lightweight summit pack that can even be stowed in a trekking pack for expeditions.

Further details of the Alpinisto LT:

- Low-profile tapered harness with removable sternum strap and integrated safety whistle
- Floating top pocket with zippered security pocket on the underside and quick release hardware for convenient strip ability
- Bottom reinforced side ski loops configured for A-Frame carry
- Front ice tool attachment with durable aluminium toggle system and protected pick sleeve
